Sarah Tomlinson MAT ’14 is a university teacher and Fulbright English teaching assistant in Mongolia. She is passionate about building lasting connections with her students and supporting their English language development.

Empower language learners

The online Master of Arts in Teaching—Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (MAT–TESOL online) will prepare you to educate a variety of language learners in both domestic and international settings. The program integrates tested theories and current research with fieldwork opportunities to practice classroom teaching. With the completion of additional courses and requirements, you have the option to simultaneously pursue a California preliminary single subject teaching credential in English Language Development.
Through the MAT–TESOL online program, you will:

- Gain a firm foundation in proven theories through a blend of TESOL and traditional teacher preparation methods.
- Learn to provide effective language instruction.
- Think critically and innovatively to identify and close opportunity gaps for underserved students around the world.
- Apply theoretical concepts in actual classrooms.
- Acquire knowledge and skills in four broad categories:
  - Instructional approaches
  - How languages are acquired
  - How languages are structured and used
  - The importance of social context in learning and teaching

CREDENTIAL TRACK
You may also simultaneously pursue a California preliminary single subject teaching credential in English Language Development.

HANDS-ON EXPERIENCE
MAT–TESOL fieldwork supports your development as a teacher through opportunities in your geographic area to:

- Tutor English language learners
- Observe and analyze classrooms
