Empower language learners

Jing Cai MAT ’17 is passionate about working with students from different backgrounds. She is planning to return to mainland China to help students learn English.

The Master of Arts in Teaching—Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (MAT-TESOL) program prepares you to educate a variety of language learners in both domestic and international settings. The program integrates tested theories and current research with fieldwork opportunities to practice classroom teaching. With the completion of additional courses and requirements, you have the option to simultaneously pursue a California preliminary single subject teaching credential in English Language Development or World Languages.
Through the MAT–TESOL program, you will:

- Gain a firm foundation in proven theories through a blend of TESOL and traditional teacher preparation methods.
- Learn to provide effective language instruction.
- Think critically and innovatively to identify and close opportunity gaps for underserved students around the world.
- Apply theoretical concepts in actual classrooms.
- Acquire knowledge and skills in four broad categories:
  - Instructional approaches
  - How languages are acquired
  - How languages are structured and used
  - The importance of social context in learning and teaching.
