

Revolutionize education around the world

Azizullah Amir EDD '17, a cardiologist and founder of a private Afghan hospital, opened the first school and university in Afghanistan dedicated to girls and women.

The Global Executive Doctor of Education (Global EDD) program is designed for experienced educational leaders, policymakers, administrators and other professionals who are committed to improving educational outcomes on a large scale. This unique program, which includes the opportunity to travel to up to five countries for comparative study, will prepare you to enhance educational systems through strategic use of policy, innovative practice, assessment and social entrepreneurship. You will examine educational solutions from around the world and apply them to local and national challenges.
