Are you an aspiring teacher who reflects the diversity of the Los Angeles Unified School District?

The University of Southern California Rossier School of Education is seeking candidates who embody the USC Rossier mission and are ready to make a difference as a teacher at any grade level to apply to a teacher preparation residency that will begin in summer 2021.

Selected students will complete the residency program while earning their Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) and preliminary California teaching credential in their chosen subject through USC Rossier’s 11-month degree program.

Learn more about the MAT program at usc.edu/mat. The MAT program application deadline is April 15, 2021.

AS A RESIDENT, YOU WILL:
- Receive a combination of a scholarship from USC Rossier School of Education and a living stipend from LAUSD equivalent to the entire cost of tuition for the MAT program.
- Complete a residency of two terms of Guided Practice (directed teaching) at the same school.
- Commit to 4 years of teaching in LAUSD, as the teacher of record at the completion of the MAT Program.
- Become a USC mentor teacher after 3 years of teaching (optional).

TO BE ELIGIBLE, YOU MUST:
- Be admitted to the USC Rossier MAT on-campus program for summer 2021.
- Provide official documentation that you have satisfied the basic skills requirement (CBEST, etc).
- In order to enroll in classes, you must submit official documentation that you have satisfied the subject matter requirement (CSET, etc) by June 1, 2021.
